

Quality Certification

AT&T hosts quality seminars

AT&T encourages and supports its diverse suppliers to achieve quality certifications for industry appropriate quality standards such as ISO 9001 and TL 9000. To support our diverse supplier base, we have hosted free seminars that provide education and direction for achieving these certifications. If you are considering becoming a supplier for AT&T or already are a diverse supplier, we encourage you to take advantage of these seminars. To sign up to receive notification regarding the next Quality Certification Seminar, please email joankerr@attsupplierdiversityevents.com, and look for an email invitation similar to those shown below.
